Council heads for clash over all girls' school

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE team behind a proposed 750-capacity girls' free school opposed by the council says it has already had 'massive interest' in the project.

Ali Mohyuddin, from Saint Anne's High School for Girls, said the people behind the school were local residents doing it for 'the children and to improve the community'.

Earlier this month the Department for Education (DfE) told Luton Borough Council that Saint Anne's was at the 'pre-opening stage', the part of the process between the approval of the application and the school's opening in September 2017.

It follows the failure of another all girls free school which should have opened this month. Council officers have expressed concern about the latest project.

They said the town needs a new mixed-sex school as there are more places for girls than boys.

The National Union of Teachers has also called for the Government to fund the expansion of existing primary and secondary schools instead of opening another free school in Luton.

In response, Mr Mohyuddin said Saint Anne's school would focus on science, technology, engineering and mathematics subjects to help improve the representation of women in those fields.

He said: "We would not have been given the permission from the DfE if there was not a need for the school. Challney Girls' High School is oversubscribed and there's a need for the school that the DfE has seen and commented on. When we went out and did our market research and spoke to people, they said they wanted a girls' school."

Councillors will discuss the matter at a meeting tomorrow where they will also consider a 230-signature petition calling for the creation of a new girls' school. The lead petitioner said it would lead to a 'loss of gender stereotypes' and 'a more relaxed environment, which is created in part due to girls and boys not having to worry about impressing the opposite gender'.

A council spokeswoman said: "There are currently 1,228 more boys than girls in the Luton school system, and there are already 225 more girls only school places in Luton, in comparison to boys only school places."

DETERMINED: Max Moncur with mum, Caroline, who lost her battle with cancer

Max up for award after caring for family during mum's illness

AN 18-YEAR-OLD who lost his mum to cancer days before his 18th birthday and weeks before his A-level exams has been shortlisted for an award.

Max Moncur, 18, of Fallowfield, Luton, lost mum Caroline (pictured) when she died following an 18-month battle with pancreatic cancer.

During the illness he supported her along with dad Andy and younger brother Sam but became the temporary head of the family and carer when Andy fell ill.

The Harlington Upper School student is up for the Atlas Bedfordshire Young People of the Year Awards or 'Yopeys', which are given to young people who 'give to others'.

He said: "I don't think I have done anything special - it was just me. "I did it because I wanted to do it, I didn't expect to be rewarded."

Woman's death prompts call to re-design road

RESIDENTS have called for a review into a crossing where a woman died after colliding with a lorry earlier this week.

Mary Rose Brennan, 61, also known as Rose, from Suffolk Road, Dunstable, died on Monday following the incident in High Street South in the town at 11.20am.

Residents left tributes online expressing their sympathy to her family but they also said the area was 'dangerous' and 'unsafe'.

Cliff Thompson said he had seen some 'near misses' caused by the traffic lights being too close to the four-way junction. He said: "I have seen a few near misses and sometimes you have to stand on your brakes if you're driving through."

Process of appointing new chief questioned

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@ltnmedia.co.uk

A DAMNING report into the appointment process of the new Bedfordshire Chief Constable has been tabled to the Police and Crime Panel.

Written by its independent member, Carolyn Dhanraj, it lists a string of mistakes and failings.

There were only two candidates for the post, one internal, Jon Boutcher, the other a former member of the Metropolitan Police, Simon O'Brien.

Part of Ms Dhanraj's role was to ensure the selection process was conducted fairly and properly.

In her report she stated that she was emailed by the office of the Police and Crime Commissioner to agree suitable dates for shortlisting, and was advised that one officer Ms Hogan would be contacting her.

This never happened, which led to confusion about dates.

The College of Policing, which had an advisory role, were under the impression that what turned out to be the shortlisting meeting was actually a training session.

Further problems occurred during the selection meeting.

There were only three on the

selection panel, when it is advised to have five and a tight timescale to complete the process of advertising the post meant that 'thoroughness of the process was lacking'.

Those on the shortlisting meeting were sent application forms in error and, to compound the mistake, these were not sent by registered post.

Before the actual selection meeting the two candidates underwent a mock TV interview, which was recorded so the interviewing panel could see it on the day. But the media interview was not able to be played due to a 'technical problem'.

Police and crime commissioner Olly Martins said: "There were some minor administrative errors in the early stages of the recruitment process none of which impacted on the outcome."

"The police and crime panel gave its unanimous support to the appointment, saying his reputation is 'second to none', and in my view Bedfordshire is fortunate to have secured a superb chief constable."

Ms Dhanraj was happy that the panel was, however, fair, transparent and merit based and that the right candidate was selected and on Wednesday this week Jon Boutcher was officially confirmed in the role.

Following the appointment, chief constable Jon Boutcher said: "It's a privilege to serve the people of Bedfordshire. We know there are challenging times ahead but the commitment and professionalism that are so characteristic of this force mean that I am nonetheless really relishing the prospect of leading the organisation."

Police station front desks to close next year

BEDFORDSHIRE Police is planning to close the front offices at five of its police stations from January next year - including one that only opened to the public last month.

The proposal, which hopes to save the force £250,000, would see the closure of enquiry offices in Houghton Regis, Biggleswade, Dunstable (pictured), Leighton Buzzard and Flitwick.

The offices at Luton and Greyfriars will remain open.

The station in Flitwick only opened in August to replace the old site in Amphill which was said to be in response to concerns that the station in Amphill was difficult to reach because it is based on the outskirts of the town. At the time police and crime commissioner Olly Martins said 'the move to a more central base in Flitwick will help police better connect with the communities we serve'.

According to the force it will still be possible to be seen at these stations by appointment.

newsbriefs

LEGAL EAGLES WANTED FOR PANELS

POLICE and crime commissioner Olly Martins, along with other PCCs from the eastern region, has launched a recruitment process to appoint qualified lawyers to oversee police disciplinary proceedings.

The move follows a change in police conduct regulations which will see legally qualified chairmen replace police-trained chairmen on police misconduct panels from January 1 next year.

The closing date for applications is this Friday and interviews will be scheduled for October 16, 22 and 23. For more information visit: <http://www.bedsfordshire.pcc.police.uk/about-us/vacancies/>

FREE DETECTORS FOR LANDLORDS

PRIVATE landlords can pick up free smoke and carbon monoxide detectors from Bedford and Luton fire stations this Wednesday ahead of new laws coming in which mean all rented properties must have them.

To get a free smoke and CO detectors landlords must e-mail NAOfiresafetyadministration@beds-fire.com before Wednesday.

Landlords will be required to provide their contact details, a list of properties for which detectors are requested, and the number of floors in each property.

The detectors will be available from the Barker's Lane fire station in Bedford and the station in Studley Road, Luton, from 10am to 4pm.

FOOD CHAIN INVESTS IN AIRPORT

JAPANESE food giant, Wasabi, has chosen Luton Airport for a major million pound investment and its first opening within a UK airport.

The new store opened on Thursday and joins the 40 branches across London as well as the recently opened stores in Cambridge, Leeds, Lakeside shopping centre in Essex and New York.

The new 1000 sqft store is the first Wasabi to offer breakfast options to attract early morning travellers.

The new menu includes 'wake up cups' with fruit and yoghurt and breakfast pots including 'the rain-bow', which offers a Japanese twist on the classic full English breakfast.

The chain will also offer sushi, salads, soups and hot dishes, such as prawn tempura and spicy chicken bento, along with its range of authentic bubble teas and aloe vera juices.

Oreo takes the biscuit in tree rescue

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A KITTEN being rescued by firemen after getting stuck up a tree is a bit of a cliché – but in this case a hero on a tall ladder was exactly what this little fluffball (pictured left) needed.

Seven-month-old kitten Oreo got into a lofty predicament in St Margaret's Avenue in Luton last Tuesday when he got to the top of a 40ft high tree – and couldn't get back down again.

The RSPCA and Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service attended the scene to help Oreo, who had been stranded for 24 hours.

RSPCA animal welfare officer Kate Wright said: "He could be heard crying out loudly from the ground below and there were concerns he might fall as the branches, flimsy as they were so near the top, were bending under his weight."

"Cats are good climbers – as you can tell from the height he had reached – but I think he was just too scared to get himself down. It didn't help that it was so windy that day."

"The firefighters were fantastic. I don't think he would have been able to do it without their help. He is now back safely with his relieved owners."

HIGH CLIMBER: Seven-month-old Kitten Oreo, circled above, got stuck at the top of a 40ft high tree

Hospital's digital age upsets coroner

A SENIOR coroner has revealed Luton and Dunstable Hospital's changeover to a modern electronic record system is causing old fashioned delays.

At an inquest on Wednesday, Tom Osborne, senior coroner at Ampthill Coroner's Court, said he was unable to access any of the encrypted files the hospital emailed to him.

Mr Osborne said: "It took us 18 months to get microphones."

"The IT staff nearly had a seizure when they saw what they would have to do to be able to run your files."

He pointed out the files didn't need to be password protected as data protection does not apply to dead patients.

He also raised concerns about the impact of the hospital's new system upon residents: "A lot of the people who go through Luton Hospital are vulnerable and don't have the access to computers we assume they do."

A spokeswoman from Luton and Dunstable Hospital said patients are still able to request paper copies of their records. She added the hospital is yet to receive a patient request for a hard copy of their records since the changeover one year ago.

NOT PLAYING AROUND: Cllr Franks wants to 'keep up the pressure' on Barnfield College

Council supports bid to 'save' field

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

CONCERNS over a playing field shut to the public have been backed up by a council motion calling on it to be reopened.

Liberal Democrat leader councillor David Franks said residents are concerned Barnfield College in New Bedford Road has stopped maintaining its fields and closed access as a pretext for a building programme.

In 2012 the college was forced to withdraw plans to build houses and a care home after members from the Barnfield Development Action Group campaigned against the plan.

The motion, backed by Luton Borough Council, said the authority had a legal right to rent the fields out. It also said they were not being kept in an 'acceptable condition'.

Cllr Franks said: "It is obvious the college has stopped maintaining the playing fields and this naturally leads to suspicions that management is preparing to argue that since the pitches are not used they might as well be allowed to build on them. The playing fields have been used and enjoyed by generations of local people and are hugely valued, we must keep up the pressure to save them."

Barnfield said it was 'committed' to finding an 'amicable agreement' to the issue.

A spokeswoman added: "We have a new board, new chair man and new principal and we are all committed to working with the local community and businesses to provide outstanding programmes of study."

Town comes together to create refugee plan

A MEETING of community leaders and organisations will be called by the council in the next fortnight to decide how best to help Syrian refugees.

Councillor Hazel Simmons, leader of Luton Borough Council, said the authority had made a provisional offer to house ten young people aged 16 and over. Prime Minister David Cameron said the UK would take in up to 20,000 Syrian refugees over the next five years.

Cllr Simmons acknowledged the town had a housing and school places shortage but added that 'Luton is a caring and compassionate town which will do whatever it can to support people in need'.

She said: "We have, as ever, been moved by all of the individual acts of kindness and offers from Luton's residents, businesses and community organisations over the past week. We are therefore arranging a meeting of community leaders over the next two weeks to look at other ways Luton can and will support people affected by this awful crisis."

Tributes flow for 'smiling' Charles

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE friends of a young man who died after his car collided with a heavy goods vehicle have remembered him as a 'smiling, cheeky chap'.

Charles Glancy, 22, from Toddington, died when his black Volkswagen Passat collided with the vehicle in Harlington Road on Wednesday.

After his death, long-term friend Chaney-Alahna Stubbs set up a fundraising page for money which will go towards supporting his family.

She said: "I cannot really speak for everyone but I know that he was very well-loved in the community."

'CHEEKY CHAP': Charles Glancy

"He was always a smiling, cheeky chap who made everyone happy."

"I first met him eight years ago and he was my first boyfriend. We did not last long but I've known him since. In the past few months he decided that he was going to join the army and he was waiting to hear back about tests and basic training."

Other tributes have been left on the fundraising page set up by Chaney on the gofundme.com website.

Liam Creegan said: "Going to cherish the memories we shared bro! Gone but never forgotten. Taught us a lesson live life to the full as you never know what's round the corner. See you on the other side bro!!! X (sic)."

Another comment, by Jaime Squirres, said: "Still can't believe your gone, you will NEVER be forgotten lots of love always Jaime and Karl xx (sic)."

Co-defendants deny scrap metal dealer murder

TWO men have told a murder trial jury they had nothing to do with a fight which led to the death of a scrap metal dealer.

Father of five, Gemma Price, 30, of Ridgeway, Kensworth, and Addy McAllister, 34, of Charlesworth Street, Bolsover in Derbyshire, are on trial at Luton Crown Court charged with the murder of Adam Fanelli.

It's alleged by the prosecution that on the night of Monday, March 16, Mr Fanelli and the defendants had been taking cocaine and drinking, and that a violent argument broke out between the three of them, with the two defendants attacking Adam and inflicting a severe beating on him from which he died from head wounds.

But this week Mr McAllister claims he was not responsible for the death, and Mr Price claims he had tried to stop the fight.

The trial continues.

Do your house guests get up your nose?

Advertorial

If you do continually suffer from a blocked or running nose it is probably due to your house dust mites! They are smaller than a full stop on this page, live off humanskin scales and thrive in humid environments like your bedroom or kitchen. Every house has them and it's almost impossible to get rid of them.

Hundreds of thousands of dustmites can live in a square metre of carpet, and tens of thousands could be in your bed.

But it's not the mite itself that causes the problem, instead it's the proteins in their droppings which cause the allergy. Each mite produces about 20 of these waste droppings every day which continue to cause allergic symptoms even after the mite has died.

House dust mite allergy is very common and is associated with asthma, eczema and allergic rhinitis. You can use covers on bedding, wash them regularly and remove carpets to reduce the problem – slightly.

One of the best ways to get these guests to pack their bags is by having a Sanondaf treatment of your house. In addition to killing bacteria and viruses it also kills the fungi which exists on their food and needed by the mites to digest the skin scales. Surfaces treated by Sanondaf become inhospitable environments for dust mites and recent laboratory tests have shown that mite populations disappeared completely from areas treated.

Sanondaf's treatment is now available to homes in the Bedfordshire area providing a quick, cost effective way to kill 99.99% of all bacteria, viruses, mould and fungi on every surface and in the air.

Licenced to kill 99.99% of all germs

- ▶ Vital protection for young and old, especially those with weakened immune systems, or susceptible to allergies
- ▶ Safe to use on all surfaces, soft furnishings, electrical, phone and computer equipment

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Council slams Leon Briggs inquiry delay

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

COUNCILLORS have unanimously agreed to pass a vote of no confidence in a police watchdog yet to finish its investigation into a death in custody.

Father-of-two Leon Briggs died at Luton Police station in November 2013 but the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) is yet to complete its inquiry into the case almost 22-months on.

CLr Jacqui Burnett, who brought the motion at a meeting on Tuesday, said the delay had left the family with 'no answers'.

Luton South MP Gavin Shaker has also written to the Home Secretary Theresa May asking her to look into the 'unacceptable delay' of the inquiry.

The IPCC said the hold up has been caused by the 'complexity of the investigation'.

CLr Burnett said: "There was a Luton 4 Justice meeting in Bury Park a few weeks ago and there was no representative from the police, IPCC or Olly Martins.

"They read out the written response from the IPCC and I was just sad. There have been two chief constables since Leon Briggs died and everyone is getting on with their life but what about Leon's life?

"When they had a meeting after Leon died the community was angry. They said they would fail them – and they have succeeded."

IPCC commissioner Mary Cunneen said: "We recognise the length of time being taken to complete our investigation has had an impact on Mr Briggs' family and the officers involved and we are endeavouring to complete what will be a comprehensive report as soon as possible."

Tributes for lorry collision mum

■ cContinued from page 1

THE family of a woman who died in a collision with a lorry have said she will be 'sadly missed'.

Mary Rose Brennan, 61, was involved in a collision with the vehicle on Monday in the High Street.

Flowers left at the scene included a note left which read: 'To Mum/Nan. I love you always. You will be sadly missed and forever in our hearts.'

Following Mary's death, residents have asked the authorities to consider changing the layout of the junction because of 'near misses' they have witnessed in the past.

A Highways Agency spokeswoman said safety was the 'top priority' but she said she could not comment further due to the police investigation.

Single sex schools out

IT seems I find myself on the same side as LBC.

This is a welcome change for me. I, too, oppose the prospect of yet another all girls school in the town. It is true that such schools appear to achieve better academic results than co-eds but that's not the whole story because in a mixed school the girls consistently out-perform the boys anyway. The standard explanation for this is that 'girls develop earlier'.

Closer to the truth is that girls and women have better brains than us men - except for map-reading, of course.

This new school will emphasise science, technology, engineering and maths (STEM). Excellent. Britain is desperately short of people with these skills.

But we are also suffering from a badly fractured, if not broken, society. It's bad enough that dinosaur zealots among us are still allowed to have faith schools whose main effect is to maintain mistrust, suspicion and misunderstanding, but single sex schools can be just as bad in their way.

We're regularly treated to reports of two coffee morning and other contrived get-togethers to promote cohesion and better understanding (almost always preaching to the converted) but when it comes to the real causes of the problems we allow numbskulls to promote the most guaranteed ways of maintaining division - by separating school children by sex or religion.

How can we expect an adolescent to stand

Three cheers for L&D staff

CAN I start my latest misadventure by thanking the wonderful and caring staff at the Luton & Dunstable Hospital for coming to my aid this week?

I had an accident whilst going about my household chores and I had to raid my stash of toilet rolls in order to stem the bleeding. After a quick call to 111, a good friend of mine rushed me to the A&E and they took care of me really rather well.

The staff were polite, the vending machines were well stocked and their jokes did cause me to have a chuckle or two.

I know it is fashionable these days to give our public institutions a good kicking when they mess up but it also nice to praise them to the heavens when they do a stellar job, especially when it involves blood and gore.

So, thank you L&D.

On another note, does anybody know what happened to summer?

I am tempted to say it has been delayed by the traffic but the roads have - until recently - been clear because of the holidays so I cannot even use that as an excuse.

Again, I know it is fashionable for us Brits to moan about the weather but when one is being deprived of the crucial Vitamin D one gets from the sun, can you blame one?

Frank Dignot

schools benefit from solar and the educational benefit is also valuable. But guarantees to the tariffs are now coming to an end.

This is just part of this government's increasing undermining of renewables and the low carbon economy.

Fracking is hugely prioritised, onshore wind subsidies have been axed, climate change levies for renewables have been abolished, while tax breaks for North Sea oil are very generous. It seems obvious that the profits of polluters are coming far ahead of the urgent need for investment in safe, clean energy.

The future is not oil or gas but clean energy technologies that can also benefit our economy and create jobs, and investment in those now is vital. An awful lot now rides on our MPs, this government and December's Climate Summit in Paris and we should all remind them of the great responsibility on their shoulders.

Lucy Bywater & Heather Mitchell
Co-Chairwomen, Bedfordshire Climate Change Forum

What price energy?

AS pupils return to school, it is a sad fact that there will now be considerably fewer schools installing solar PV panels on their roofs to generate free electricity.

Solar PV panels are not cheap but the feed-in-tariff (FIT) from 2010 made them an attractive possibility for many schools, community groups and householders, then able to dramatically reduce their carbon emissions.

Central Beds in particular helped many

Refugee efforts

I AM glad to see Luton businesses standing up for the rights of refugees, who are turning to us in desperation.

But how do we make the most of all the disparate efforts taking place across the country and turn them into a real force for good that makes a real and tangible difference.

Safety warning after fire threatens home

BY JENNA HUTBER

editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

RESIDENTS have been reminded to take extra care when using candles after a home was severely damaged by a house fire reportedly caused by a candle in Luton this week.

A man alerted the fire and rescue service to a fire in his home in Clarendon Road at 19.19pm and when firefighters arrived they found smoke billowing out of a first floor bedroom of a mid-terraced home.

Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus and using a fire hose fought to contain the flames and although the houses either side were damaged by smoke, the fire did not spread. The fire destroyed 50 per cent of the bedroom and caused 100 per cent smoke damage to the whole property.

It was started accidentally and there were no casualties.

Following the incident Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service have issued advice about using candles and other night lights safely.

Residents are reminded to only use candles in well ventilated rooms to avoid the risk of fumes building up and to make sure you snuff it out fully after use, and try to avoid moving candles once they are lit.

Keep candles out of the reach of children and pets and away from curtains or materials such as paper, cardboard or fabric furniture.

Health cuts pose a danger to town

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

PROPOSED cuts to public health grants across the country could lead to longer-term spend on the NHS and poorer health for the town's residents, the council has warned.

Luton Borough Council said government proposals to cut £200 million nationwide through reducing the grants, given to councils across the UK, will have a 'detrimental effect on outcomes for the people of Luton'.

The Department for Health said the cuts had to be made to 'ensure the sustainability of our public services'.

In a document discussed by councillors on Thursday, the council said the town's Clinical Commissioning Group was underfunded and 'below target'.

As a result, any cuts would negatively affect the town, which already has high levels of deprivation.

It said: "Further reductions in public health budgets, alongside the ongoing underfunding for the CCG and reductions in the local authority budgets would add to the disproportionate impact on a population that already has organisations that are underfunded and health and wellbeing outcomes that are already below the national average."

A spokeswoman from the Department of Health said: "A strong society needs a strong economy. Difficult decisions need to be made right across government to reduce the deficit and ensure the sustainability of our public services."

"That's why we have been consulting on how best to deliver these savings in a way that minimises any impact on services. We are now considering the responses."

Shadow cabinet role for ex-Lutonian

AN MP who was born in Luton has been named in the shadow cabinet by the Labour Party's new leader.

Kerry McCarthy, who attended Denbigh High School and Luton Sixth Form College, was appointed the new shadow environment secretary by Jeremy Corbyn.

She is the MP for Bristol East but during her time in the town she spent five years as a Luton councillor and four years as a Luton Airport director.

Ms McCarthy said was 'delighted' by her appointment as she had a 'long standing interest' in the environment.

She added: "Although I have been vegan for many years, this will not affect Labour policy in relation to the farming industry, although I am of course keen to see farmers adopt the highest welfare standards, and keen to develop policies which promote a move away from intensive, industrialised farming."

HAPPY: The MP learnt her politics in the town

Woman guilty of HIV needle threat

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@londonmedia.co.uk

A JURY has found a woman guilty of threatening to stab a supermarket security guard with a syringe while telling him she was infected with HIV.

Ayesha Glasford, 30, of Villa Road, Luton, was found guilty at Luton Crown Court of a charge of threatening security guard Sayful Islam with a bladed or pointed article.

The incident happened outside the Sainsbury's store in Dunstable Road, Luton, in March of this year.

Glasford was told by Judge David Farrell QC she will be sentenced for the offence in October after reports have been prepared.

The offence happened on the evening of March 16 this year after Glasford visited the store with a boyfriend.

She admitted in court she had gone there to steal bottles of spirits she could sell to local shops and raise money to buy drugs.

Security guard Mr Islam told the jury he had seen her on the store's CCTV system removing a security tag from a bottle of Jack Daniels and hiding it down her leggings.

He said as she came up to the exit doors he challenged her and it was then she pulled out a syringe from her coat pocket and pointed it at him telling him at the same time she was HIV positive.

In court Mr Islam told the jury that Glasford became aggressive and then said: "I have HIV. I will push the syringe into you."

He said as she came toward him he feared for his safety and backed away.

Glasford told a jury she threatened the guard with a biro pen from her pocket.

She said she would never have him with the pen and said she had AIDS 'simply to make him back off'.

Police search for stolen jewellery

DISTINCTIVE items including a gold medallion and a designer watch were stolen during a burglary on September 11.

The offenders broke into the home in London Road, Luton before stealing electrical items, jewellery, aftershave, children's clothes and trainers.

Items stolen included a bespoke medallion on a gold chain inscribed with the family coat of arms for McCarthy and Hogan, a Mi Moneda necklace which carries different coloured discs; a Pandora charm bracelet; a Michael Kors bracelet and a Michael Kors watch.

Detective Constable Gillian Cowley, investigating, said: "These items are distinctive and I urge anyone who knows of their whereabouts or are offered them for sale to call police."

Anyone with any information should call DC Cowley on 101.

Review to boost coppers' coffers

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

REPORTS that the county's police force could benefit from a funding review have been welcomed by the Bedfordshire Police Federation.

Jim Mallen, chairman of the federation, said Bedfordshire Police was 'struggling to provide an effective policing service' and needed more money from the Home Office.

It has been reported that the Home Secretary Theresa May plans to change the police funding formula to give county officers more funding than those working in cities.

In May this year Bedfordshire residents voted against police and crime commissioner Olly Martins' proposal to raise the police's share of council tax by 15.85 per cent.

Following that, in July, police minister Mike Penning MP announced that the government was running an eight-week consultation to determine how much money should be given to each of the country's 43 forces.

Mr Mallen said: "We welcome any move that would mean we are better funded."

"While Bedfordshire has been classed as a rural force, this has failed to recognise the demands of policing Luton and Bedford and we have long supported calls for the Government to reconsider the funding formula it uses to allocate funds."

He added: "We have collaborated with neighbouring other forces to such an extent that it's difficult to see how much more we could share resources without embarking on a full-scale merger."

Right up your street

Chief engineer lends his name to town street

THIS week Howard Chandler continues looking at streets with Vauxhall connections...

Pomeroy Grove in Bushmead is named after Laurence Pomeroy, who joined Vauxhall in 1906 as an assistant draughtsman, becoming works manager (1910) and chief engineer (1912) at age 29.

It is said that Pomeroy's brilliance as an engineer resulted in Vauxhall becoming pre-eminent in its field. His skill was to use design innovations to dramatically increase the power output of engines.

In 1907 he designed the successful 12/16hp car, followed by the doorless four seater 'Prince Henry' and then the 30/98 in 1913.

The war interrupted sales but a total of 600 were built by 1926. Vauxhall made a Pomeroy designed V12 aircraft engine in WW1.

The 1911 census lists him as living at 'White Cottage' in Marsh Road. He left the company in 1919 for the USA, returning in 1926 as Daimler's chief engineer and becoming managing director in 1929.

Pomeroy died in 1941.

As able as ever to lend helping hand

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

OVER the past 21 years, more than 100,000 people with disabilities have flocked to the Disability Resource Centre in Dunstable for help and advice.

When a group of volunteers in the late 1980s came together to form the centre, they did not envisage it would be offering assistance to families living in Bedfordshire and Northamptonshire.

Mick Dillon, chief executive for the last 15 years, recently welcomed The Duchess of Gloucester, Birgitte Eva and the Lord-Lieutenant of Bedfordshire, Helen Nellis, to celebrate their anniversary and achievements to date.

Mr Dillon said: "I have been chief executive for 15 years and it has grown five-fold in that time, responding to different opportunities in health and social care.

"It's not just about independent living but we also do other things, so we have expanded our offering.

"Independent living is fine but what do you do with that time?"

When the centre was set up, the original founders were 'frustrated' by the state of the services at that time.

Mr Dillon said it started with a £90,000 grant but has now grown with a turnover of £2 million a year and 65 staff.

"The biggest change I have seen in my time is the change in social care and health, giving individuals more control and how we are actually embracing that."

"We have to work out what local disabled people need.

"The biggest success is trying to respond to people's needs and that is across a hundred different conditions and covering a hundred topics.

"Every year 6,000 people access our services and we have a lot of families because it impacts on the family as well.

"We still have the original core services, which is the information services and equipment services for people who want the loan of equipment for a short period of time, for example.

"We have to respond to what people want, and that means breaking new ground in a careful and considered way."

As a wheelchair user himself, Mr Dillon said this gives him an insight into the difficulties face.

He has been wheelchair bound for the last seven years as he suffers from a rare degenerative disease.

Commenting on how the organisation intends to stay relevant over the next 21 years, Mr Dillon said: "You have to plan ahead and we have strategic ideas. You have to diversify and it's about looking at what you provide and how you provide it."

"It's a matter of providing what people want and it doesn't matter who you are.

"We will look at how we can work in partnership with organisations such as local authorities and not just looking for handouts but bringing added values as well."

"We are run by disabled people, for disabled people and that's a key strength."

Boost your breakfast

Food writer Monaz Dumasia shows us how one family get the most out of their breakfast routine

GOOD MORNING
Hayley makes breakfast with Lily

TEAM WORK
Jack and Lily tuck in

FAMILY TIME
Breakfast can be healthy and fun

We all know breakfast is important to kick-start the day. But with busy mornings, it's easy to miss out in the mad rush. Hayley Gibson, 35, worries about ensuring healthy breakfast for her family. Monaz Dumasia is a food writer for some of the UK's biggest lifestyle and cookery magazines. Can she help Hayley improve her choices?

Hayley says: "Our weekday breakfast routine is manic. The children eat at the table while my husband and I run around getting everything ready for the day."

"I have Kellogg's Special K most days, Joseph likes Kellogg's Corn Flakes and Jack loves Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Cereal's great on busy weekdays because it's quick and involves no cooking! Weekends are a different matter. We all sit down together a little later and have eggs, beans and spinach or some yoghurt and berries with cereal on top.

"My main worry is ensuring breakfasts are healthy enough."

"Another thing I would like to add is more variety. Because the children are rather loyal to one particular cereal at any one time."

"It would be helpful to know I am providing them with some vitamins and minerals."

We caught up with the Gibsons a few weeks later

Hayley says: "I was really worried whether we were getting the right amount of nutrients at breakfast."

"Monaz reviewed our habits and made me feel so much better."

"She explained that Kellogg's cereals are fortified to meet daily dietary recommendations and provide 6 B vitamins and iron, which made me feel a lot happier. "She also suggested sprinkling flaked almonds, chopped hazelnuts and pumpkin seeds to cereal. The kids loved it!"

"Now I have a kitchen cupboard full of nuts and seeds and without thinking I reach for a daily handful and add them to our breakfast. Thanks Monaz!"

Monaz says...

"The Gibsons are on the right track. Kellogg's cereals are fortified to help meet daily recommendations of 6 B vitamins and iron. Even if they're sticking to one cereal at a time, they're not missing out. To bring some variety they could add flaked almonds, chopped hazelnuts or pumpkin seeds to their cereal."

Special award for dog handler John

MAN'S BEST FRIEND: Special constable John Power and police dog Charlie

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A SPECIAL Constable has won a volunteering award, after becoming the UK's first special constable dog handler following a battle with Cystic Fibrosis and a successful double lung transplant.

Bedfordshire Police special constable John Power, 30, was honoured at the Lord Ferrers Awards 2015 at the Houses of Parliament.

He received the Special Constable Overcoming Adversity award from the Home Secretary.

John said: "I was so excited just to be nominated at the awards, so winning was a complete surprise."

"I'm very grateful, and proud to represent Bedfordshire Police."

"I've been making the most of every opportunity since I had my lung transplant, and this award is the highlight of my work as a special."

John was diagnosed with CF when he was only a year old. His health had been deteriorating gradually, and at the end of 2011 his specialist recommended he should join the transplant waiting list before he became too ill to survive a potential transplant operation.

As a result, John took on a non-operational role with Bedfordshire's Special Constabulary, working with two explosive-detection search handlers and their dogs at Luton Airport.

In 2012, John received a life-changing double lung transplant and was accepted on to a training course in Surrey with Charlie, the three year old black Labrador.

Chief constable Jon Boutcher said: "This is a huge achievement for John and we are all delighted for him."

"This award speaks volumes of John as an individual and his dedication and commitment to Bedfordshire Police, the communities we serve and the Special Constabulary."

Roll up! Roll up! Imaginary menagerie comes to town

THEATRE

LES ENFANTS TERRIBLES

Luton Library Theatre

October 3, 2-3pm

WHEN your production is receiving praise from the likes of comedian Dara Ó Briain and Guardian reviewer Lyn Gardner, then you know you are on to something.

Les Enfants Terribles is a theatre group with a CV that includes performances in places such as Poland, the Czech Republic, Dubai, Singapore and Australia.

This coming November they are off to Norway for some shows but before that they have the small business of finishing the first UK tour of their popular 'Marvellous Imaginary Menagerie' production.

Described as the 'most magnificent, tremendous and fantastically experience in town', it is a melting pot of circus acts, puppets, dance, music and magic.

Fiona Porritt, from the show's production team, says: "The show is about three-years-old. It originally started as an outdoor production which toured in an old converted horse box but that was only available to tour in the summer, so we wanted to create something that could tour anywhere."

"It has been taken to the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and from the success of that we have started booking it for tours and this is the first UK tour."

"It is a big kind of colourful family show that has a Victorian style to it. The audience meet these characters who go on quests to meet animals which are imaginary to the audience but are real to the characters."

As a fast-paced show packed with a lot of action, Fiona says keeping things going is a job which requires a lot of effort.

She says: "I stage managed it in Edinburgh and there are a lot of props so there's quite a lot of responsibility because you have to keep things running smoothly."

"We get a great reception when we do it and it is something that adults and children can enjoy - we have received many four and five-star reviews. People coming to it can expect a feast for the eyes and to be transported to different lands where they meet new characters they have never seen before. "It's a good spectacle."

Tickets cost £8. To book call the box office on 01582 878100.

The Bear Club

Friday, 7.30pm

NEXT Friday a young local vocalist makes her home debut at the town's popular jazz venue, the Bear Club.

Fresh from her international tour as an actress with world-renowned director Peter Brook, 15-year-old Cherise Adams-Burnett will be supporting singer Noel McCalla and guitarist Jim Mullen.

The young singer started her career with the Luton Gospel Community Choir and is now studying at Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music and Dance.

She recently performed in the West End as a part of the show 'Cafe Society Swing' and also spends her time teaching music to young people in London, including sharing the stage with US soul legend Frank McComb at the Jazz Café.

Bailey is earnest about Wilde's mischievous age old comedy

REVIEW

THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST

Milton Keynes Theatre

THIS is a gleeful take on an irreverent classic, brimming over with Oscar Wilde's signature satire.

Lucy Bailey's production of The Importance of Being Earnest did get off to an awkward start with audience members in visual discomfort over the liberal approach Bailey takes with Wilde's original text.

Simon Brett's extra material pads out the first act with a scene showing the actors bumbling around preparing for a dress rehearsal: a play within a play.

Brett's writing is cheeky and sets out a comical premise for actors who will never see thirty again playing teenage characters.

But the scene doesn't flow with Wilde's well known text and Bailey should have trusted Nigel Havers' and Martin Jarvis' flair and charm to carry this mature version of a vintage play. It sits uncomfortably with Jarvis' remarks (who doubles up as the play's 'director') that he 'only needs a light hand' at the start of the play.

The performance improves once the actors are allowed to step into Wilde's characters. Sian Phillips makes a formidable Lady Bracknell, vindictively interfering in two single bachelors' attempts to match themselves with eligible gentlemen.

She's as intimidating as she is annoying, with echoes of the aunt who pinched your elbows at the dinner table or the teacher with ridiculous dress sense who scared the wits out of your entire maths class in her performance.

Haver (as Algernon Moncrieff) and Jarvis (as John Worthing) make a terrific double act and the role of a capricious, lazy aristocrat capering across the stage fits Haver like a glove and Jarvis makes an amusing dodgy counterpart. And it's no surprise they shine together: they played these roles back in 1982 with the National Theatre.

This performance does as Wilde intended: it mercilessly pokes fun at the foundations of society - family, love and convention.

It made me giggle from start to finish and made watching Wilde's serious messages about high society through Algernon and Jack's attempts to hook themselves a bride a trivial pleasure.

A highlight of the show was when Lady Bracknell vetted Jack as a suitor for her daughter Gwendolen. 'I'm 29', 74-year-old Jarvis announces with a grin.

Gwendolen (Carmen Du Sautoy) gives a disappointingly two dimensional performance. Her aloof rendition of Gwen doesn't translate to a relatable character.

Bailey has crafted a rollicking good show and has stayed true to Wilde's non-sense satire. It's a shame she felt the need to explain her decision to cast older actors with that dodgy intro - her audience is well aware old people can be funny too.

Ready for a night of fright with the Zoo's residents?

HALLOWEEN

BOO IN THE ZOO

Whipsnade Zoo

October 24-November 1

IT is going to be nothing but Halloween fun and scary games at Whipsnade Zoo this October half-term.

The week-long 'Boo in the Zoo' event will offer a host of activities designed for families and friends to enjoy.

For a start, visitors can get creative by carving their own 'petrifying pumpkins' or heading to 'the bat cave' to make glow-in-the-dark masks.

If that does not excite then you can jump aboard the steam train for the Jumbo Express Ghost Hunt, which challenges kids to find the eight ghosts hiding around the zoo who have each stolen an item from the zookeeper's cupboard.

Intrepid explorers can take a break to listen to the zoo's enchanting spooky stories, as well as a whole host of 'terrifying talks' about the Whipsnade's most fascinating animals.

And those who really want to get into the spirit of Halloween should attend ghoulish school where they can transform themselves into their favourite creepy character, learn how to concoct a spooky spell and compete to wrap the best mummy.

Creepy costumes are also encouraged at the pumpkin party's disco.

Normal entry charges to Whipsnade Zoo apply for the event and there may be extra charges for some activities.

What Your Agent Has To Say

Confusion over laws relating to smoke alarms

DRAFT regulations were laid earlier in the year to require private sector landlords to install at least one smoke alarm on every storey of their rental property from October 1 this year, providing local authorities with the power to fine landlords who fail to comply £5,000.

But last week, the House of Lords rejected the draft legislation at its final stage, on the basis that the proposed introduction is less than one month away and that the government has not done enough to inform the private rental sector of the changes. The Lords has also complained that the legislation is poorly worded.

Smoke and carbon monoxide alarms are also subject to confusion over the fate of legislation which was supposed to have made their installation compulsory in private rented homes. However, by the time the legislation may be approved, landlords and agents will be left with merely days to comply with the legislation, risking the £5,000 fine.

It is interesting to note that the law will not cover council housing. It is also interesting that the law does not state that the alarms need to be regularly tested. Here at myletz, we support the draft legislation, since it brings safety to the home. We also inspect rental properties every three months and test smoke alarms for our landlords.

For more information on our excellent management service – landlords – please call myletz on 01582 380 330.

PRESS RELEASE

SEPTEMBER 2015

SELL NOW AND MOVE BY CHRISTMAS, SAYS CONNELLS

Local estate agency Connells in Luton is urging homeowners to start marketing their homes now if they want to be moved by Christmas. According to the branch, September is an ideal time to sell your home. With children back at school and the summer holidays over, buyers are returning to the market and looking to purchase before the end of the year.

"If you are looking to move, September is a great time to put your property on the market," says Lee Clark, Branch partner for Connells. "It is traditionally one of the busiest times of the year for us as there is renewed interest in moving after the summer break."

The branch has already seen an uplift in activity since the start of the month, with more would-be buyers registering an interest in buying this year. Indeed, demand is such that the branch needs more properties in order to meet current buyer interest.

Lee continues, "Potential buyers are turning their attention back to the market at this time of the year and in the run up to Christmas. We would urge those interested in moving to make the most of the heightened autumn opportunities and a buoyant local housing market."

If you are interested in moving before the end of the year, or would like to book a free market appraisal with Connells, please contact the branch on 01582 450999 or email: Luto@connells.co.uk

Audi A4 turning up volume with sound new additions

THE many attributes which have already made the A4 an international sales success are now available in strikingly amplified form, from the already lauded quality of finish to the sophisticated in-car technology, and from the slick and frugal engines to the polished transmissions and highly effective driver assistance systems.

One change which will be distinctly less dramatic will be the range pricing, which despite major equipment gains will start from £25,900 OTR.

Due with their first UK customers in November, the 54 Saloon and Avant variants making up the launch range will be available with a choice of seven TFSI and TDI engines. Depending on the preferred engine, customers will have a choice of up to three specification levels, including a new Sport option which will sit between the entry SE and top S line rungs that will be familiar to existing A4 drivers.

Each specification option will offer plenty of the technological sophistication for which the all-new A4 is likely to become renowned, combined with premium features that will greatly enhance everyday use. Examples of these in SE models include xenon headlamps with LED daytime running lamps, three-zone climate control, cruise control, rear parking sensors and the Audi smartphone interface, which supports Apple CarPlay and Android Auto platforms and displays smartphone contact and information such as navigation mapping on the A4's seven-inch colour MMI screen.

In Avant versions of the SE model, powered tailgate operation and an electrically retracting luggage cover are also standard, facilitating access to a the most accommodating load bay in the premium compact executive estate class, with a capacity of 505 litres with the standard split/folding seats in place or a seats-down maximum of 1,510 litres.

Audi's drive select adaptive dynamics system (Comfort, Auto, Dynamic, Efficiency and Individual modes) is a standard feature across the range. Highlights of the options list will also include a 19-speaker, 755-watt Bang & Olufsen audio system with 3D sound.

The Stop&Go adaptive cruise control system includes a traffic-jam assist function which eases driving in crawling traffic by assuming control of the acceleration, steering and braking, taking into account a large number of parameters such as road markings and the traffic ahead.

Other newly introduced features with a more safety-focused orientation include rear traffic crossing, exit warning and turn assist.

Kia Sorento

Take a look inside...

The Kia Sorento has ambition. What started life as an agricultural cheapie has been fettled and polished into something far more refined. This third generation model looks to have the finish and engineering to put the frighteners on the SUV-class high fliers.

Kia hasn't engineered this Sorento by halves. The UK range hinges around a 197bhp 2.2-litre turbodiesel engine that develops a peak torque of 441Nm. A great deal of work has gone into improving refinement, with a torsionally stiffer bodyshell, additional soundproofing, acoustic shields built into the engine bay, and a thicker dashboard. Depending on speed, ambient noise within the cabin is claimed to be between three and six per cent quieter than the previous car.

An electric assistance motor is attached to the steering rack rather than the steering column as in the old Sorento, helping to improve steering accuracy and offer more detailed feedback.

The fully-independent suspension retains the format of the outgoing model (MacPherson struts at the front and Kia's multi-link system at the rear), but features a range of modifications. At the rear, the subframe supporting the suspension has larger bushings to better isolate it from the cabin and the larger shock absorbers are now mounted vertically behind the axle line, improving body control.

The 'p-word' crops up in almost everything you read about the Sorento: premium. It marks a measure of Kia's ambition. No longer does the brand feel it's achieved something being accepted into the mainstream. It wants to keep on trucking and leave the likes of Ford, Vauxhall and such like behind.

The face of the new Sorento incorporates long, wrap-around headlamps and more prominent fog-lamps, as well as a larger, more upright 'tiger-nose' grille, with a distinctive three-dimensional diamond pattern.

It's better looking than before and a good deal more design input has gone into refinement, both aural and haptic. It's just a more assured and confident design. What we're still not quite seeing is a pronounced Kia hall-mark with this car. It still seems a fairly reactive move to the way the SUV market is developing.

For many buyers, this is no bad thing. The Sorento looks a good deal more expensive than it is and even in a badge-conscious sector it would appear to be just too much of a bargain to overlook.

Dunstable get needed win over Frome

FOOTBALL

BY NICK SMITH
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

DUNSTABLE Town put an end to a wretched run of form with a 3-2 win over Frome Town.

The win over the fellow Evo Stik Southern Premier League strugglers sees them edge away from the relegation places.

The Blues went in 2-0 up at the break courtesy of goals from Steven Gregory and Adam Watkins, before Gary Wharton seemingly put the game to bed in the 70th minute.

Gregory netted in the 21st minute, heading in from a corner, with Watkins lobbing goalkeeper Darren Chitty to double the lead just before the break.

Wharton's third came on a rare attack for the home side as Frome looked to get back into the game, with Wharton beating the Frome defenders for pace before rounding Chitty and making it three for the hosts.

Frome attempted a comeback and scored two in the last 20 minutes to give them some hope, but Dunstable managed to hold on to take a rare three points.

In the Evo Stik Southern Football League Division One Central, Barton Rovers fell to a 1-0 home defeat against Egham Town.

A ninth minute goal from Brendan Matthews was enough to give the visitors the victory.

In the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division, AFC Dunstable ran out 3-1 winners away to Oxhey Jets.

Goals from Brandon Carney, his brother Newman from the spot and BJ Christie, after some great work from midfielder Moses Olaleye, were enough for the victory.

THREE POINTS: (clockwise from above): Mackail-Smith is sent sprawling, McNulty rises highest, McGeehan takes on all comers, Mackail-Smith celebrates

HATTERS

MANSFIELD TOWN	0

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

A 57th minute Craig Mackail-Smith penalty earned Luton a first home league victory of the season, though whether it is a turning point or another false dawn, only time will tell, but for now it is a massive monkey off their collective back.

Palpable too, in amongst the shredded nerves and sheer relief, was the sense that they had managed to stop shooting themselves in the foot – as had been the case in all of their previous Kenilworth Road fourth tier encounters – eking out a maiden clean sheet of the campaign.

Now, after victory by the skin of their teeth, the work begins to ensure this does not remain another solitary shot in the dark, as transpired after their only previous three points, at Cambridge.

This new-look Hatters can take heed from last season's vintage who embarked on an 11-game unbeaten run this time last year, to breathe life into a stuttering start. To that end, there is still much work to do as goalkeeper Mark Tyler's nomination as man-of-the-match told its own story, as did the under-employment of opposite number Brian Jensen.

Thankfully though, in the immediate aftermath, that is all secondary to the only thing that really mattered – a Hatters victory.

In amongst the celebrations, there were still reserves of energy to rail against referee Kevin Johnson – a late change for Rob Lewis on the eve of the game – as the whistle-blower conspired to take an unwelcome centre stage.

El Classico-sized portions of players hitting the deck combined with persistent perceived injustices from the man in charge nullified the early tempo and riled the Kenilworth Road crowd as blind eyes were turned to off-the-ball misdemeanours and yellow cards issued when reds were in order. The frustratingly pedantic officialdom was, at times, only a TMO-littered step removed from the momentum-sapping Rugby World Cup interruptions experienced in England's opener less than 24 hours earlier. But football is supposed to be the beautiful game. This was not.

And when, at the end of a stop-start first half, Mackail-Smith dared to shatter that façade with a stunning overhead kick that nestled in the top corner, the linesman's flag was raised for offside.

At the other end, Luton didn't completely evict the resident blunders, but for once, they escaped punishment, such as when a Steve McNulty's early gaffe put Matt Green in front of goal only for Tyler to produce the first of his rescue acts.

Before that the hosts had started positively, the high point a Jonathan Smith shot saved by Jensen after a sweeping counter-attack in the eighth minute. But for all Luton's early intensity – which had Cameron McGeehan and Paddy McCourt at its fulcrum – they were impressive only outside Mansfield's penalty box. Indeed, the latter, restored to the start-

Wembley gig for Luton's Phil

The Rugby World Cup is underway and one worker from Luton Sixth Form College will be right in the middle of 'The Pack' when the action comes to Wembley Stadium.

Senior media technician Phil Dickson-Earles, a former chairman of Hitchin Rugby Club, will be one of the 6,000 volunteers who, like the Games Makers at the London 2012 Olympics, will try to ensure the tournament passes smoothly.

He was selected from a ballot of over 20,000 and will be looking after the world's press at Wembley as the mighty New Zealand take on Argentina under the arch this afternoon.

Dickson-Earles, 54, will be on duty again the following Sunday, by which point the World Cup will be in full swing as Ireland face Romania, making sure the media's Wi-Fi works as well as grabbing players to be interviewed by broadcasters and writers alike.

He said: "As a former chairman of Hitchin with a son (Euan) playing on the wing for the Saracens Academy, and a former winger myself back in my school days, I just had to get involved in the Rugby World Cup in some way."

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to be involved in an enterprise such as this and I can't wait for it all to kick off!"

on for the Hatters

ing 11 for the first time in almost a month, occasionally cut a frustrated figure as his team-mates failed to read his intentions. That was until his defence splitting assist for the penalty.

Mackail-Smith's will have felt hard done by to see a second goal disallowed this term but he was instrumental in the decisive moment just before the hour mark. Even then Mr Johnson attempted to steal his thunder, doling out a caution to Ryan Tafazolli even though, as last defender, he'd tripped the striker who was clean through on goal. It was far more clear-cut than the professional foul that earned Hatters centre back Scott Cuthbert a red card last week. Consistency?

Not in League Two. While the real punishment was meted out by Mackail-Smith from the spot, for his third of the campaign, a reduction in Mansfield's numbers perhaps would have made for a far more comfortable finale.

The goalie was then on hand to snuff out a golden chance for Mansfield substitute Adi Yussuf as Adam Chapman's route one ball threatened to be this week's customary defensive lapse.

Inevitably the Stags piled on the late pressure in the final stages, but rather than collapse Stephen O'Donnell produced a result-saving header on the goal-line.

Though there were four nerve-wracking added minutes, Mackail-Smith ensured Luton saw them out by Mansfield's corner flag and the relief at the final whistle was enormous.

League points hard to come by for Luton

RUGBY UNION

BY TIM BARTLETT

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Luton RFC continue to find London 1 North league points hard to come by as they suffered their third defeat of the season yesterday afternoon, losing 41-10 away at Amersham and Chiltern.

"They were a good side", said Luton's manager Dicky Jones, "and we're still rebuilding having lost quite a few players from something of a summer exodus; and of the players we do have there's quite an injury list – we're missing five out of six props at the club, it's a bit of a concern".

A Rik Hobbs penalty in the first period accounted for Luton's points as they trailed 14-3 at the turnaround. After the restart, Michael Weston touched down for the visitors, converted by Hobbs, to score Luton's points on an afternoon where they struggled to find their groove.

"With ball in hand we looked okay", said Jones, "but it was the final move that let us down, we failed to complete a lot of our work coming forward, we just weren't clinical enough – be it a knock on, or a turnover, but that's the difference between coming home with points to show for your troubles and returning home empty-handed, they really are small margins.

"That said, we're not a million miles away from where we'd like to be", said Jones, "and we've got Ruislip at home next weekend, if we can get some more bodies back we've every chance of getting our season started".

In Midlands 3 East (South) Dunstabians lost 26-16 up at Daventry, the side that narrowly beat Stockwood Park RFC 14-13 on match day one last weekend.

"They made excellent use of their forwards", said Dees prop Simon George, "they had a big well-drilled pack that made good use of the ball, they had an excellent catch and drive".

Pete Thompson kicked two drop goals and converted Dees' only try of the game, scored by Luke Ashton, in the kind of contest the Dees will need to win, if they're going to bounce back up to Midlands 2 following the heartbreak of last season's relegation.

"We didn't play anywhere near as well as we know we can", said George, "we lacked speed, we're much better than that, it's really disappointing.

"Next week we've got Stockwood Park at home", added George, "that will be a tough one, they've had a slow start to their league campaign so they'll be looking to get their season going – and of course it's a local derby, there's a lot at stake".

Mackail-Smith relieved after Mansfield victory

ACROBATIC: Mackail-Smith tries for the spectacular yesterday

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

Craig Mackail-Smith was relieved to score a Luton winner at the third time of asking as his penalty sunk Mansfield and earned the Hatters their first home League Two victory of the season.

The striker had scored twice before, since arriving in the summer, but ended up on the losing side as Town failed to win in their first five fourth-tier outings.

This time, a 57th minute penalty, won and scored by Mackail-Smith, was enough to do the damage as they moved up to 18th position, nine points of the top.

He said: "It was nice to have the penalty and score because sometimes in those positions, if you get fouled and then don't score you get really disappointed. It's nice to get that chance, score and get us the three points."

The decisive moment saw Ryan Tafazolli trip him when sent clean through by Paddy McCourt, but the defender was let off lightly with a caution by referee Kevin Johnson.

Mackail-Smith said: "I was surprised that there wasn't a red card. He was the only one that was chasing me down. That's the referee's decision to show him a yellow but the ball went in the back of the net, otherwise it would have left a sour taste.

"I've got belief and confidence in myself that I'll step up and score. Penalties for strikers are goals that add up at the end of the season."

As well as relief for Luton it was doubly satisfying for the striker after he'd had an over-head kick goal of season contender disallowed in the first half.

"It's disappointing because I felt like I was onside," Mackail-Smith said, adding: "When I hit the shot and it went in the defender was behind me."

It was the second time the former Brighton ace has had a strike chalked off this term and he added: "Sitting on five would be fantastic. It's nice to have three goals. It's nice to be getting a few chances and scoring, even if they're disallowed they still go in the back of the net, so it gives me confidence that I can find the net. It's just a case of doing what I'm doing week in, week out and hopefully more chances will drop to me and I can start sticking more goals away."

Town also earned their first clean sheet of the campaign after conceding late goals in each of their previous three home games.

Mackail-Smith said: "In the previous games we've conceded goals in the last minutes, so it's a great confidence boost for everyone to know that we can go the full 95 minutes and keep a clean sheet."
